

SOLIDWORKS FOR ENTREPRENEURS

THE PROGRAM

LAUNCH YOUR DESIGN DREAMS

We know that starting a business from the ground up can be tough. How do you conceive and design a product, test it, prepare it for manufacturing and launch a business and brand—all on a shoestring budget? For eligible early stage companies, the SOLIDWORKS® for Entrepreneurs program offers software, training, and co-marketing resources to help your idea become a product and your product become a business.

WHAT THE PROGRAM OFFERS YOU

Software

With SOLIDWORKS for Entrepreneurs, you receive up to three SOLIDWORKS licenses for each relevant category. Your reseller will help you determine which programs are the best to develop your product.

Training

SOLIDWORKS for Entrepreneurs also offers access to MySolidworks.com where you can get training, answers to your questions, learn more about all SOLIDWORKS products and stay connected with other users.

During training, you can also receive design guidance from SOLIDWORKS engineers and technical managers through webinars.

Co-Marketing resources

SOLIDWORKS for Entrepreneurs will provide you with valuable marketing resources.

You may be invited to participate in a range of co-marketing opportunities that will promote your product to the SOLIDWORKS Community of students, educators, designers and engineers, ranging from a blog post to a webinar or video. You could even be invited to speak at one of our user events or annual conferences.

ACCELERATOR AND INCUBATOR COMMUNITY

SOLIDWORKS for Entrepreneurs has teamed up with accelerators and incubators across the globe to support early stage hardware startups.

And the program also provides resources, including SOLIDWORKS software, training and mentoring for accelerators and incubators to help with the success of the resident companies.
